What is MOBIDI?

In many sectors, much work takes place out in the field. We are all too familiar with the costs and unnecessary operations that arise when we bring incomplete data back to the office.

MOBIDI provides a high quality, comprehensive solution to this problem.

It makes it possible to record all kinds of data that can be taken from the field such as sound, images, video recordings; attributes etc. – and to do so as rapidly as possible.

MOBIDI is a Mobile Data Capture and Team Management application for teams working on site. It can work both offline and online.

Information collected from the field is automatically combined in the office and becomes ready for searching, reporting, sharing, and integration with other systems...

THE SMARTEST WAY TO GATHER DATA FROM THE FIELD

You can work offline

MOBIDI can work without the need for network access. As long as the capacity of your mobile device allows it, you can save thousands of records for an unlimited time. If you wish, MOBIDI can work offline.

You define the schema for the data to be collected

You describe to the software which information is to be collected. You determine the data to be collected, and the persons collecting them. MOBIDI Office software includes templates and the tools you need to create new ones.

Send messages to mobile users

Team work is much easier with MOBIDI. Send messages or data to mobile users. Assigning new tasks, forwarding, and issuing information on emergencies, such as a malfunction, are made very easy by the messaging system. The messages may include information such as locations and shortcuts.

Compatible with iPhone, iPad, Android phones and tablets

Easily generate maps and reports

With MOBIDI, information such as place and time are automatically recorded. With MOBIDI Office, it is very easy to see this information on the map, and to filter and report it based on chronological or other criteria.
